Junior Summer Reading

Laura Hildebrand, "Unbroken"

In a story that seems impossible to believe let alone comprehend how it could be achieved, Hildebrand brings the reader into the life of Louie Zamperini. A life interrupted seems to be a most fitting way to describe the course that Zamperini's life took. In a response that is approximately 500-750 words, respond to one of the following prompts. In your response you should cite 3-4 quotes from the text to support you position and further clarify your insights. The response should be in MLA format. Once again, choose ONE of the questions and proceed.

1. Was this a story of survival or triumph? In the case of this story, is there a difference?
2. Of the two following qualities, which was more responsible for the outcomes in Zamperini's life, endurance or adaptability? Were the outcomes a success or a failure?

AP Prompt- If you are taking AP American Literature, please respond to the following prompt in the afore mentioned fashion.

1. Existence is preparatory in every sense. For what was Zamperini's existence ultimately preparing him? Was he successful in this endeavor?
